

ETF portfolio review, April 2021

ETF portfolios with ESG focus

market overview

The star performer for April 2021 was SWM's newly-launched 100% crypto portfolio. The portfolio gained just under 8% in as many trading days (launch date was 20th April). Our biggest holding is Binance, which was up 100% in the month, with Ethereum up 50% for April. Our tried-and-tested technical signals, which we are now applying to crypto, indicate significant further upside for crypto during the course of 2021 (as mainstream adoption continues). Our traditional ETF portfolios also showed strong gains across the board for April, with our equity ETF portfolio now up 11.4% year-to-date, outperforming global equities by 3.2%. We continue to see good upside for equities in the coming months and have a strong overweight in US ESG small caps. Fixed-income also bounced following the sharp sell-off in Q1 due to the post-Covid inflation scare. Our ETF portfolios continue to show multi-year outperformance across all strategies (see p.2 of the fact sheets).

portfolio objectives

The SWM crypto growth portfolio is a globally-diversified portfolio made up of 20% cryptocurrencies and 80% growth-oriented, sustainable equity ETFs. The portfolio is suitable for investors wishing to gain some exposure to cryptocurrencies, but with significantly lower volatility than directly owning cryptocurrencies.

The portfolio will be rebalanced frequently, to ensure that the cryptocurrency component does not rise above 20%. This will ensure that the overall volatility of the portfolio remains at approximately twice that of equity volatility (currently at around 12%), significantly lower than stand-alone crypto volatility. The low correlation between the growth-oriented ETFs and the cryptocurrency holdings delivers a material diversification effect on the overall portfolio. The ETF positions will also be closely monitored and regularly rebalanced.

The Secure Wealth Management (SWM) crypto portfolio was launched on 20th April 2021. The portfolio is an actively managed portfolio made up 100% of cryptocurrencies. The portfolio is suitable for investors wishing to gain exposure to cryptocurrencies within a diversified, professionally-managed structure. The SWM crypto portfolio is suitable for investors with a very high risk tolerance and who are targeting long-term capital growth. We use our proven investment process to select up to 16 cryptocurrencies which we believe offer the most upside. We only use institutional-grade investment vehicles for the crypto holdings. The portfolio is rebalanced to ensure that the cryptocurrency target weightings are achieved. Due to the high volatility of cryptocurrencies, rebalancing is frequent.
